Appraisal

This Appraisal is subject to the following terms and conditions:

1. Values established on all articles of jewellery, unless otherwise stated, are replacement values for insurance purposes.
2. The parties recognize that opinions may reasonably vary with respect to the characteristics covered in this appraisal; hence, neither BRINKHAUS JEWELLERS nor any member of its staff shall, at any time, be held responsible for any discrepancy which may result from application of other appraisal methods.
3. In the event of any claim by the Client or any other person for damage to the items left for appraisal, or damages resulting, directly or indirectly, from the appraisal, the liability of BRINKHAUS JEWELLERS shall be limited to the amount it receives as a fee in connection with the appraisal.
4. Set stones are examined only to the extent that the setting will permit. Where indicated, weights and measurements are approximate only. Identification of metals is performed by acid tests and is therefore an estimate.
